MOUNTAIN EMERGENCY MEDICINE COURSE SUMMER

Mountain Emergency Medicine (MEM) Course Summer including canyoning, HUET (Helicopter Underwater Escape Training) and AHEMS topics according to DiMM regulations (ICAR, ISMM, UIAA).

Practicing Emergency Medical Service in the mountains can be extremely challenging. High altitude, extreme temperatures, strong winds, unpredictable weather, weight issues, limited resources and no place for mistakes.

With more than 50 years' experience and over 50 000 helicopter rescues, we are offering to transfer our knowledge and experience with courses on a high level that prepares you for demanding rescues under extreme conditions.

Course price

CHF 6200.– per person

Included: Course fee, helicopter flight time, accommodation (hotel & mountain hut), hotel night starting from the night before the course starts. Single room while in Zermatt, multiple beds while in Ticino for canyoning training. During the course days in Zermatt: breakfast and lunch. During the course days in Ticino: breakfast and dinner (lunch inside the canyon in form of snacks). Not included: Gear rental, dinner while being in Zermatt and Sursee.

Requirements

- Working as a healthcare professional or as a rescuer for a medical/rescue organization
- Active mountaineer
- You must be able to master the following knots prior the course: Italian hitch, figure of 8, clove hitch, overhand slip knot, fisherman knot, prusik
